El asegurado debe designar beneficiario en forma clara y precisa, para evitar cualquier incertidumbre sobre el particular.

En caso de que se desee nombrar beneficiarios menores de edad, no se debe señalar a un mayor de edad como representante de los menores para efecto de que, en su representación, cobre la indemnización. Lo anterior porque las legislaciones civiles previenen la forma en que debe designarse tutores, albaceas, representante de herederos u otros cargos similares y no consideran al contrato del seguro como el instrumento adecuado para tales designaciones.

La designación que se hiciera de un mayor de edad como representante de menores beneficiarios, durante la minoría de edad de ellos, legalmente puede implicar que se nombre beneficiario al mayor de edad, quien en todo caso tendría una obligación moral, pues la designación que se hace de beneficiarios en un contrato de seguro le concede el derecho condicionado de disponer la suma asegurada.
